

Discover Caitlin's Journey: A Personal Account on Scar Healing After a C-Section

Case description

Caitlin, a mother of premature twins, underwent an emergency C-section. She faced challenges with sensitivity, itching, and tautness in her scar. Seeking help, she tried the Scarban C-Section silicone patch, wearing it for several weeks.

Evolution of the scar

Initially for 16 hours a day, later reduced to 6 hours, the patch notably reduced itching and tightness. The Scarban patch significantly improved her scar, making it smoother and almost imperceptible.

Patient experience

Caitlin highly recommends the Scarban C-Section patch to women who have or plan to have a C-section, emphasizing its comfortable wear and transformative impact. She expresses regret for not discovering it earlier and encourages others to consider this patch for its significant positive effects on scar healing.
